

Good morning!

1a. Read the dialogue and answer the questions.

- ✓ Is Lisa a day-time, evening or correspondence / long-distance student?
- ✓ What have you learnt about Lisa and her studies at college? (8-10 sentences)

1b. Translate the highlighted sentences into Russian.

+ Hello, Ann! How are you?

- Fine, thanks. We met last year, didn't we, Lisa? How are things with you?

+ OK, but I am tired a little.

- What's the problem?

+ You know, it is very difficult to combine my work and studies at college, besides I have a family to look after.

- I see. But what course are you in now?

+ I am in my final year already. Soon I'll submit my graduation paper.

- Do you study many subjects?

+ Yes, of course, and one foreign language. As you know, we have classes four days a week: lectures, seminars, practical lessons. I have to attend all of them and do my homework.

- And what about the teaching staff?

+ Many of our teachers are good specialists. They are always ready to give all sort of help both in the classroom and outside it. We may come up to them whenever we are in difficulties. Relations between us are friendly.

- And what about your exams? Did you pass them well?

+ I did my best and passed all my exams with good and excellent marks. My family is very proud of me.

- Oh, by the way, my niece Helen wants to enter your college in summer. Can she call you and ask you some questions about the college, its history, subjects, classrooms and equipment?

+ I'll be glad to help her. Sorry, Ann, but I am going to be late for my English lesson. Let's meet some other day and talk about everything.

- So long, nice to meet you.
